Greece maintains her equilibrium but not her self-respect.

National Guard troops sent to the Rio Grande now must feel decidedly belated.

The proportion of closed summer hotels that are burning is too high altogether.

The Vermont Republican platform is right in declaring that men who frame the platform ought to live up to it.

Those 18,000 barrels of apples off Isle La Motte alone make a good foundation for a fine 1916 crop in Vermont. Moreover, the apples are declared to be nearly all "perfect." Spread the news, everybody!

Vermont's task of handling the infantile paralysis epidemic is growing as the task of New York, Massachusetts and other states seems to be lessening. It means that we must keep the quarantine bars up most rigidly.

The Times believes with the Rutland Herald that the soldiers of the 1st Vermont infantry will have so much pride in keeping up their organization that every man of them will remain in the Vermont National Guard, once the troops are mustered out of federal service.

Col. Reeves' expressed regret that the Norwich university students, members of the Vermont National Guard, were not permitted to go to the Mexican border with the remainder of the regiment, is probably shared by the students themselves, who spent the whole summer pottering about in the recruiting camp near Fort Ethan Allen.

Automobile stealing is becoming as common as horse stealing in the olden days. Some concerted action on the part of the owners and dealers may be necessary to stop the depredations. A few doses of the treatment which horse thieves received years ago would act as a deterrent to the practice of running away with machines.—Brattleboro Reformer.

What do you mean—hanging? No, that's not severe enough. Why not make them pay for the gasoline they burn?

The premature rejoicing in Germany over the arrival of the submersible commerce ship Bremen at the port of New London, Conn., must have been predicated on some fairly reliable information as to the exact time when the doughty sister ship of the Deutschland left a German port, as well as knowledge of just about the time that ought to be taken in the voyage if all goes well with the ship. Therefore, it may be taken for granted that the Bremen ought to have arrived in New London on Sept. 26, the day before the grand rejoicing in Germany and somewhat less than 24 hours before all the Berlin newspapers published the "fact" of the arrival. If details of the supposed "fact" reach Germany within the next few days, the German people will probably lay it to the British censor who refuses to let the accurate information leak through to the world. Meanwhile the people of the United States, who are not bothered with a censor on their own home news are waiting for the consummation of the actual fact. It seems that the Bremen must be near, providing, of course, that she has not been gobbled up by British warships.

Probably no place in Vermont has such direct interest, one might say blood interest, in the progress of the war as Barre, because of the fact that a large number of former residents of Barre are fighting in various of the armies or because a much greater number of Barre people have relatives or friends numbered among the soldiers. In the class of those having relatives or friends in

Not stylish words, but stylish clothes.

Not how many customers we can sell to, but how many we can please.

We do not buy the highest advertised clothes, but buy the biggest values.

And follow the same rule in buying our furnishings, we select what will give you the best satisfaction.

Another advantage to our customers is our Resident Buyer in New York—a man of wide experience who knows the market. He keeps us supplied with the newest ideas as soon as they appear.

If you want a certain thing and fail to find it in our store he will get it for you if it's in New York, no extra charge.

The new Hats, new Shirts, new Neckwear are here.

The Store of Better SHOES

For Everybody

We attribute the wonderful growth of our Shoe business to the following facts: Our Shoes are better; we give better values; our styles are different and exclusive—while our advertising is always reliable.

When we say that our Men's and Women's WALK-OVER Shoes at $3.50, $4.00, $5.00 or $6.00 are better shoes and better values than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, we believe what we say, and we have the shoes to prove it. Other makes at $2.50 to $3.50.

We've everything to meet your Winter Shoe necessities, and we ask for your consideration the armies the Scotch and Italian residents of Barre are, of course, far in the lead numerically and among them there naturally is intense interest and real concern as a brother, or a father, or a son shoulders his arms and marches into the conflict. Already a number of Barre men and many more relatives or friends of Barre people have fallen in the great struggle, as we have chronicled from time to time. Those reports come chiefly from the soldiers of the British army because the channels of communication for news of the British soldiers are kept open to a far greater extent than for any other nation. When it becomes possible to get information from the other army headquarters it undoubtedly will be found that many soldiers who have relatives in Barre or who even were former residents in Barre fell in action with the armies of other nations, notably the Italian. But for the present it is largely speculation and lively speculation, too, as to the safety of very many soldiers under arms. It is no wonder, then that Barre people are following the progress of the war with greatest avidity and with deepest concern, not only as to the outcome of the tremendous struggle but also as to the conditions surrounding friends or relatives.

"OFFICIAL BUSINESS"—EX-SERGEANT'S HENS STOLEN.

Bearing the U. S. navy department label, marked "official business" and coming under frank with the stipulation of penalty of $300 for private use, a letter has come to The Times office containing the enlightening item about an ex-sergeant of the U. S. marine corps having had some hens stolen from his coop in Flemington, N. J., coupled with which news was the announcement that the ex-sergeant posted a notice for the thief to come back and get the four he inadvertently overlooked, whereupon the thief did come back and took the remaining four. A fine bit of publicity work by the navy department! We suppose that a costly publicity department is maintained just for the purpose of telling when an ex-sergeant of the marine corps meets with a loss. We next expect to hear that the ex-sergeant has lost his lone pig, perhaps his pet cat. All of which information will be awaited with tense interest by the American public.

In these days when the cost of white paper is mounting to great heights, when cost of employing stenographers and typists is no small item, when efforts are demanded for lifting the United States navy out of the "grape juice" repute, it is distinctly discouraging to note that the personal losses of the ex-sergeant of the marine corps are considered "official business" and that letters bearing the information can be franked all over the country from New York. If the government is trying to reduce expenses it might start in by cutting off the publicity given to the ex-sergeant of the marine corps who has a chicken coop at Flemington, N. J.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

May Irwin in "33 Washington Square," in Barre, Oct. 9.

Here is an eighteen-year-old assistant stage manager of one of the most important theatrical productions of the season and simultaneously the opening of a new field of endeavor for women, for Charlotte Carter is the first of her sex to hold such a position.

She is with the ever popular comedienne, May Irwin, and has an important part, Mary Morgan, in Miss Irwin's new comedy, "33 Washington Square," in which Miss Irwin will be seen here at the opera house on Monday, Oct. 9. Miss Carter is a very pretty young woman with Titian hair, all her own. She first attracted Miss Irwin's attention by offering to hold the book during rehearsals. Then she read lines for absences. Then she surprised the star by proving that she had memorized every role in the play. Then she showed a memory for stage directions, which the director, William Collier, had given but forgotten, which is the habit of all stage managers. In fact Miss Carter displayed such interest and ability that Miss Irwin raised her salary and her dignity at the same time, and Miss Carter got her picture in the papers as a new woman in a new sort of a job.—adv.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Correction About Children's Attendance at Washington Fair.

Editor, Barre Times: If the copy I sent you for to-day's item regarding Washington fair reads as printed in to-night's paper, I made a mistake. The item should read, "Under present ruling of state board of health, children are allowed to attend this fair." Print the same in paper Sept. 29 (Friday) as to-day (in the several town items), with the correction I have stated.

MRS. M. H. BUCKHAM PRESIDENT.

Vermont Branch, Woman's Board of Missions, Concludes Sessions.

Woodstock, Sept. 29.—The morning session Wednesday concluded the 44th annual meeting for Vermont branch of the Woman's Board of Missions which adjourned after luncheon served by women of the Congregational church. An address was given by Miss Alice M. Kyle, secretary of Boston. Most of the old board of officers was retained, the election resulting as follows:

President, Mrs. M. H. Buckham of Burlington; honorary presidents, Mrs. G. G. Benedict of Burlington, Mrs. Henry Fairbanks of St. Johnsbury; first vice-president, Mrs. George S. Mills of Bennington; recording secretary, Mrs. Edward Kirkland of Bellows Falls; home secretary, Mrs. E. P. Crane of Brattleboro; foreign secretary, Miss Katherine F. Worcester of Burlington; secretary of young people's work, Miss Florence M. Hemenway Wells of Brattleboro; treasurer, Miss May E. Manley of Pittsford; assistant treasurer, Miss Alfa Chalmers of Rutland. Mrs. John W. Ross of Rutland is vice-president for Rutland county.

The treasurer reported that $5,017 has been sent by church auxiliaries and contributing societies for the pledged work of the branch, over $200 more than last year. This is encouraging considering the fact that auxiliaries have also raised about $200 for a golden anniversary gift. The total sent this year for this gift is $763.

"Where Are My Children?"
